CITY OF NEW ORLEANS MAYOR'S OFFICE NOMINATION

- Asya Howlette
- Incoming Director, Office of Youth & Families, City of New Orleans Mayor's Office

Asya Howlette is the incoming Director for the Office of Youth and Families. After graduating from Hampton University, Asya began her decade long journey as a math teacher in rural Louisiana and soon after earned a masters in education from Johns Hopkins University. With her continued love for educating students and her depth of knowledge about child development and academic expectations she took on the position of being the principal and director of mathematics and science for a K-8 school in New Orleans. Having context for teaching in schools, working directly with curricula, and leading teacher development within Orleans Parish and across the United States, Asya has been influenced to pursue her next phase of leadership. This has not only included running for public office, but now working to support the city of New Orleans in building and strengthening systems so that they can have the greatest impact and truly meet the needs of our young people and families.
